O&M 50th

Orientation & Mobility Program 50th Anniversary Celebration

On Saturday, October 21st, the CCOE Orientation and Mobility Program celebrated the 50th Anniversary of this program. The O&M Program prepares teachers to work with students who are blind or visually impaired.

The celebration was held in conjunction with the Braille Institute's 'Cane Quest,' which featured unique challenges for students in grades 3 to 12 which demonstrated their knowledge of fundamental orientation & mobility skills needed to navigate in the sighted world. This was the first one ever on a college campus.

The Fazzi Family Scholarship was given to an outstanding O&M candidate, and Cane Quest participants were given awards and prizes.

Career Fair for Veterans & Persons with Disabilities

Career Fair Creates Opportunities

The CCOE Rehabilitation Program and Rehabilitation Counseling Association students presented their Annual Career Fair for Veterans and Persons with Disabilities on Monday, October 23, in the university's Golden Eagle Ballrooms. The career fair, which was free and open to the public, featured government agencies and federal contractors interviewing veterans and people with disabilities for entry and midlevel jobs.

Employers who attended include: the California State Board of Equalization, California Highway Patrol, FedEx Ground, U.S. Forestry Service, U.S. Border Patrol, and the Los Angeles Unified School District. Over 500 people participated in learning about these career opportunities.

Awards & Accolades

Maxie Honored by CCTE

In October, Dr. Andrea Maxie was recognized as the 2017 Teacher Educator of the Year from the California Council on Teacher Education.

Dr. Maxie began her career as a teacher of English, Spanish and English as a Second Language in the Compton Unified School District. After earning her Ph.D. at UCLA in Curriculum and Schooling, she joined the Charter College of Education faculty in 1986, where she served her entire career. While on the faculty, Dr. Maxie also served as Coordinator of the Single Subject University Intern Credential Program, Department Chair and Associate Dean. Importantly, she served as President of the California Council on Teacher Education 2002-2004. Her commitment to teacher preparation is deep and meaningful. We applaud her!

Mattheis Featured in Cal State LA News

Cal State LA Assistant Professor Allison Mattheis is part of a national research team that is developing a training program to combat sexual harassment in the field of geosciences.

The collaborative project is funded by a four-year, $1.1 million ADVANCE grant from the National Science Foundation. The NSF ADVANCE program aims to increase the participation and advancement of women in academic science and engineering careers.

Cal State LA News recently featured an article on Dr. Mattheis and her project. To read the full story, visit: www.calstatela.edu/univ/ppa/publicat/cal-state-la-faculty-member-collaborates-national-team-prevent-sexual-harassment

On Tuesday, September 19th, Dr. Lawson Bush, faculty, Charter College of Education gave a talk as part of the Cross Cultural Center series, BLACK TALK: BLACK PEOPLE LOVE EDUCATION – THE AFRICAN ORIGINS OF EDUCATION. He discussed the long history of educational leadership and success.

Program News

Mattheis and Willis Present in Colombia

During the week of October 23, CCOE assistant professor, Dr. Allison Mattheis and Dr. Tasha Willis, assistant professor, School of Social Work, presented workshops for over 100 Colombian university personnel and faculty in the cities of Bogotá, Calí, Medellín, and Cartagena. Titled "Trabajar con estudiantes interculturales de primera generación: Pedagogías inclusivas e interseccionales," the day-long events were designed to engage participants in dialogue about intra- and inter-group diversity. As access to postsecondary education expands as part of the country's ongoing peace-building process, this dialog is key. Drs. Willis and Mattheis were invited by the "Colombia Challenge Your Knowledge" national network of higher education institutions.

In September, Dr. Michele Wallace was pleased to report that all of the CCOE students in the MS in Counseling with a focus on ABA who took the BCBA exam passed. The BCBA exam is the international exam that certifies individuals as Board Certified Behavior Analysts from the Behavior Analysis Certification Board.

Generally the pass rate for first time takers averages in the low to mid 60%, whereas all of the CCOE students who took the exam in August passed at 100%.

MS in Counseling with a focus on ABA is designed for students who want to work in case management, behavioral consultancy, or in a more conventional role providing ABA therapy. This degree also prepares students who may want to go on to pursue a doctoral degree in behavior analysis.

Additionally, the CCOE program was recognized in the Top 20 programs around the world from an independent evaluation organization (ABAedu.org). Congratulations to the ABA faculty and students! To see the ranking, visit:
